Paper thin stone in slate – real stone and very flexible

The slate is an innovative stone veneer that consists of a thin natural stone layer and a support backing reinforced with fiberglass or cotton.
The stone veneer is only approx. 1.5 mm thin and very flexible.

We have more than 50 colors with different types of stone such as thin slate sheets and thin decors made of sandstone and marble.

The exclusive stone veneer not only impresses with its natural colors and breathtaking structures of the 100% natural stone surface; it is also extremely easy to process and can blend right in with any decor.

Because of the extreme thinness, the slate veneers contributes to approx. 95% less CO2 emissions during transportation than conventional solid stone tiles!

Real slate cladding can be used indoors, outdoors, for wet rooms, pools, kitchens and much more.
